Notables Participate In Cornerstone Ceremony

Students Favor Faculty Talks On Current Topics

Student opinion on campus is solidly behind faculty discussion and debate on current problems, according to a survey conducted by the STUDENT. With a unanimity of feeling seldom seen, eds and coeds wholeheartedly answered in the affirmative the following questions:

1. Do you believe round-table discussions of current problems by faculty and administration members should be made a regular feature of extra-curricular campus life?

2. Would you be interested in a debate participated in by faculty or administration members on current world or campus problems?

Going even further, the poll sought to discover subjects for such discussion that would appeal to a student audience. Opinion here was about evenly divided between campus problems and the world's affairs.

Such subjects as "the case for college cooperatives", "the place of the college in community affairs", "pros and cons on compulsory chapel", "the commons problem", and "student citizenship" held a prominent place in a long list of campus problems deemed worthy of discussion.

Questions such as "the third term issue", "the case for the pacifist", "economic warfare", "the neutrality problem", "racial and social problems", and "internal economic problems of the U. S." proved foremost in the minds of those interested in world affairs.

Faculty Debate Urged

Chief revelation of this poll to the interviewers proved to be the thirst for more and more knowledge on all problems found in this college generation.

The general impression of those interviewed was that subjects for such discussion were limitless. Faculty debate on them was urged. The round table discussion sponsored by the C.A. peace commission and participated in by members of the faculty was pointed out as a successful application of this plan. Satisfaction was also expressed in regard to President Gray's plan to devote several chapel programs to faculty discussion of the European situation.

Student Gov't Rule Tests Interrupt Bridge Games

By Pauline Chayer '40

Anyone who walked into the reception room of any of the girls' dorms at five in the afternoon a few days ago might have thought that some new sort of mid-year exams was in progress. It was, unfortunately, an old story to all the upperclass girls—the annual student government rule test. In Rand, at least, the forty-odd girls were stretched out on every available chair and many were lying full-length on the floor in various states of undress. There were a half dozen in waitress uniforms, one or two still in lab coats, and every variety of housecoat, bath towel, smock, and curler.

Changes Cause Difficulties

Earlier in the day it was amusing to be around the dorms, or in the Women's Union. There wasn't even a good bridge game in progress. A demand bid was more than likely to be returned with a list of rules for signing out. (I think my partner flunked the test last year.)

It would be comparatively easy if the rules were the same from year to year. But since the present senior class entered college calling hours have been changed at least twice, carnival and commencement permis-sions have been modified, and it has become necessary to file with the director of residences a written permission from home to go airplane riding. The last question is the most difficult and causes more consternation than any other. It is always to write at least one stanza of the Alma Mater, this year the second verse.

Passing grade for the test is 80. If this is not made, a second test is given. If this is not enough, an oral exam before student government is tried. The next step is more or less a matter of conjecture but there are those who say that there was once a girl who took the test before Dean Clark.

90% Girls Pass Test

In any case, 90% of the campus girls passed the test this year. Statistics for other years are not available but President Kay Gould reports that the average is slightly higher than it was last year. In Whittier every girl passed the test. There should be comparatively few special cases for the next week or two. It is even possible that some of the words in the Alma Mater, at least, the second verse, may stick with us until the Back-to-Bates rally.

Grads, Students Join For Busy Week End

Gov. Barrows Speaks Saturday

Lewis O. Barrows, Governor of the State of Maine and Pres. Arthur A. Hauck of the University of Maine will be the principal guest speakers, introduced by Pres. Clifton D. Gray of Bates, at the cornerstone laying ceremony of the new men's dormitory Saturday morning at 11:45, it was announced last night. During the ceremony, a copper box will be filled with various College documents, including a copy of today's issue of the STUDENT, and will be sealed into the building with the cornerstone.

At 11:10 the band will start the ceremony by a march from the Alumni Gymnasium to the new dormitory, on Bardwell street. There, Pres. Gray, as presiding officer, will first introduce Dr. Percy L. Vernon, pastor of the United Baptist Church of Lewiston, who will deliver the invocation.

Governor Barrows To Speak

Pres. Gray will then introduce Governor Barrows, who will give a short address. The second speaker, Pres. Hauck of Maine, is scheduled to be introduced next at about 11:22.

Mr. Harry J. Carlson and Mr. Charles Connor will be presented to the audience assembled then as architect and general contractor, respectively, of the new building.

At approximately 11:25, Dr. Gray will present the following, who will deposit in the copper cornerstone box the articles named: George W. Lane Jr., secretary-treasurer of the college, copies of the latest catalogue, President's and Treasurer's report of June and August 1939, official bulletin of September 1939, "Steps To A Career", the Blue Book, First Chapel Address 1939, and a football program of Oct. 28, 1939.

Prof. Raymond L. Kendall, a copy of the Summer School catalogue, 1939 session. Harry W. Rowe, Assistant to the President and Alumni Secretary, a copy of the Bates Almanac. Mr. Seldon T. Crafts, musical director a copy of the Bates Song Book. L. B. Costello, of the Lewiston daily Sun-Journal and trustee of the college, a copy of the Lewiston Evening Journal, Oct. 27, and the Lewiston Daily Sun of Oct. 28. Faust Couture, owner of Le Messenger, Lewiston French news organ, a copy of the Oct. 27th issue.

Frank Coffin '40, president of the Student Council, will then present the following campus editors, who will deposit the latest issues of their publications.

Dr. Fisher, Crooker To Speak At Rally

Alumni week end enthusiasm will rise to fever pitch Friday night when a monster National Bates Night rally will be staged in the Alumnae Gymnasium at 7:00 o'clock, with Bates Clubs all over the country holding simultaneous rallies. All these demonstrations are designed to sharpen the claws of the Bobcat for the Saturday gridiron duel with the black bear from the University of Maine.

Speakers will be Captain Charles Crooker '40 of the Garnet squad and Dr. Lloyd W. Fisher of the faculty.

At exactly 8:15 the entire assembly in the Gym, and all those present at other rallies over the country, will rise and sing the Bates Bobcat song. Thus, although many graduates will not be able to attend in person, they will be present in spirit.

Chandu, the magician, will also be featured on the program, and he has promised to remove the entire Maine squad from the platform.

Professors Discuss Arms Embargo Act

A faculty-student "bull-session" was held last Wednesday evening at the Chase Hall music room. The affair was sponsored by the Peace Commission of the Bates Christian Association. Its purpose was to discuss the arms embargo act and its effects on our neutrality. There were some 65 persons present, including a number of freshmen.

The subject was discussed by Dr. J. Murray Carroll, Dr. Angelo P. Bertocci, and Dr. Robert D. Seward. All seemed to agree that repeal of the arms embargo act would be wise. One of the chief reasons is that some help must be given anyway. The American people would not stand idly by if the democracies were in peril. However, our participation in a war would probably be obviated if we furnish the needed supplies.

The discussion was followed by an open forum. Audience opinion was that the repeal of the arms embargo might result in an international incident that might lead to war, involving the United States.

The Peace Commission has under consideration several projects to promote better understanding of the international situation. One is the erection of an up-to-date bulletin board in Chase Hall. An Armistice Day Chapel service is also planned.

Maine Teachers To Hold Meetings On Campus

The Maine State Teachers' Association will hold several meetings in the Chapel and Little Theatre, according to their program schedule for the session of Oct. 25-27. Prof. Raymond Kendall stated. The Social Studies, the Mental Hygiene, and the Representative Assembly sections will gather in the Chapel. Little Theatre will be the assembling point for the Drawing and the Science groups.

Dr. Louis P. Benezet, Department of Education, Dartmouth College, will speak on the subject, "The Responsibility of the History Teacher in the Present Crisis" at the Social Studies meeting. The Science group will have Mr. George L. Bush, assistant principal, South High School, Cleveland, Ohio, for their principal speaker. His discussion will be "High School Science—Its Opportunity". Other speakers include, Miss Helen E. Cleaves, director of art education, Boston public schools, and Dr. Arnold Gessell, doctor of the clinic of child development, the School of Medicine, Yale University.

Gym Is Scene Of Varsity Club Dance

The Back-To-Bates week end will close its festivities with the annual Varsity Club Dance in the Alumni Gym Saturday night at 7:30.

The dancers will step to the tunes of the Bobcats, who plan to feature many new specialty numbers, surrounding their new vocalist, Genevieve Stephenson '43. The Back-To-Bates theme will be the center of one of these numbers.

The dance will welcome the old grads and fans from the University of Maine. An invitation has been issued to Governor Barrows to attend the affair by the committees in charge. Varsity clubbers expect a capacity crowd.

In charge of the dance are Harry Shepherd, chairman of the committee; assisted by Warner Bracken '41 and John Anderson '41.

P. A. Confirms Staff For 1940 "Mirror"

In a meeting early this week the Publishing Association put their mark of approval on the appointments of John McCue, editor of the "Mirror", of those to complete his staff. As has been previously announced Editor McCue will be assisted by J. VerNooy Sands '40, business manager of the publication.

Others on the staff are as follows: Ira K. Nahlikian, associate editor; James A. Dunlap, associate business manager; Wilfred G. Howland, sports editor; Frank M. Coffin, senior historian; Geneva Fuller, art work; George C. Russell, photographic editor; Barbara Rowell, W.A.A. editor; Donald F. Maggs, features; Earle Zeigler and Richard Wall, organizations. With the exception of Wall, who is a junior, all the staff members are in the graduating class.

The senior write-ups will be done by the following: Raymond J. Cool '40, Sumner B. Tapper '40, James B. Vickery III '40, Fannie Longfellow '40, Martha B. French '40, Ruth B. Gray '40. As assistant editors there will be Joseph V. Millerick '41, Richard H. Lovelace '41, Leslie F. Warren '41, Daniel A. Sullivan '41.

As assistant business managers there are: John K. Morris '41, George E. Copressen '41, Clinton J. Forstrom '41, and Richard M. Hoag '41.

Maine Game And Varsity Club Dance Lead Full Program

The laying of the cornerstone of the new men's dormitory now under construction, and the opening state series football game between the Bobcats and the Black Bears from University of Maine are the stellar attractions on the Back-to-Bates week end program Friday and Saturday.

The week end officially opens when the freshman football squad meets Coburn Classical Institute Friday afternoon at 3:00 p. m. on Garcelon Field. Friday night at 8 o'clock the annual National Bates Night Rally will be held in the Alumni Gymnasium, with companion rallies among alumni all over the country.

Saturday's program opens with a special Chapel service at 8:40, featuring a guest speaker. A section of Chapel has been reserved for all visiting alumni and guests. From 9:00 to 11:00 a. m. visitors are invited to visit classes then in session. A schedule of these classes will be posted on campus bulletin boards.

Governor At Cornerstone Laying

At 11:15 a. m. the cornerstone of the new men's dormitory on Bardwell street will be laid with appropriate ceremonies. It is expected that Governor Barrows will be the chief speaker. A special arrangement of morning classes will permit students to be present.

Buffet luncheons will be served for guests from 12:00 to 12:30 in Chase Hall. The first floor will be devoted to the College Club luncheon for all fathers and men guests, while the Bates Key will entertain women guests upstairs.

Series Game At 1:30

The highlight of the week end will be the Bates-Maine football game which is scheduled to begin at 1:30 Saturday afternoon on Garcelon field. The game will be broadcast by station WCOU in Lewiston.

The Women's Athletic Association will serve tea for all alumni and out-of-town guests in the assembly room after the game.

Profs Present Factual Discussions Of War

Prof. Angelo Bertocci, of the French Department, will present the case of Italy Monday morning in Chapel in the third of a series of faculty talks on the international situation, it was announced by President Clifton D. Gray last night. "These talks," Dr. Gray said, "are in purpose exactly opposite to propaganda. They are designed to bring knowledge based on fact to the student, with the idea of giving him the point of view of all nations."

The fourth talk will be given by Dr. Paul Sweet of the History Department on the case for Germany, next Wednesday. It is expected that a case for the United States will be presented some time in the future. Talks on England and Russia have already been featured Monday and this morning by Dr. Amos Hovey and Dr. Anders M. Myhrman.

C. A. All-Committee Rally Tonight

At 7:15 tonight there will be an all-committee rally of the Christian Association in the Women's Locker Building for the purpose of acquainting the members with the work of the Association, and the plans for this year.

There will be a description of the YMCA peace conference at Amsterdam, Holland, last summer by the campus representative, Ralph Child '40, and a talk by Dr. Zerby.

Letter To Returning Alumni

Welcome back grads! If any added formal word of welcome from the undergraduate student body is necessary, consider this it. The door is always ajar for your return; this week end it is thrown wide and the college is yours. A full program has been planned especially for you. From the Freshman football game on Friday afternoon and the celebration of National Bates night that evening right on through the Varsity Club Dance, dull moments will be scarce.

If you can find time, why not drop over to your old room in the "dorm" and see how the present undergrads are carrying on—probably much the same as you used to. Come on in and swap a few stories. You must have some beauties—maybe we will be able to offer some contributions to your stock.

To those members of the alumni unable to return but celebrating with us on Friday night and rooting for a victory over Maine, our salutation is just as hearty. Sorry you can not be with us this week end, but we are looking forward to meeting you. Bates, the all-college fraternity, has a campus for a "frat-house"; its spirit of friendliness appears wherever its men and women gather.

Letter To The Eds and Coeds Of 2039

Greetings!

Today you have broken the seal of a box placed here many years ago by a group of enthusiastic men of Bates who, experiencing the pleasures of successful endeavor, wished to leave a contemporary record of their achievement for future generations to see. For this Saturday, October 28, 1939, they are laying the cornerstone of a dormitory designed to house approximately one hundred students. It is considered a necessary step forward by all interested in this college, as Bates and her sister institutions build to aid in the maintenance of a culture of democratic principles and freedom—a culture that is being flaunted and attacked by half of the world.

Yes, Europe is once again at war. Here in America we seek to stay out and this attitude is reflected in student discussion of world problems. Moral, spiritual, and self-styled "practical" reasons for our eventual involvement, or the opposite, are being offered.

Our campus life is characterized by a large measure of self-government through a Men's Student Council and a Women's Student Government. Student expression of a most varied sort is encouraged by numerous organizations and clubs in which the student may exercise his interests in common with others. Included among our traditions are the "Stanton Ride" (orientation measure for Freshmen); morning Chapel services; a "commons" eating system; and a spirit of brotherly friendliness, etc.

We are trying to give you a sketchy picture of ourselves. Perhaps the news items in this issue will do a more complete job. Oh yes, you should be told that "jitterbug" and "cat" are common words in the vocabulary of every good collegian. They are musical terms—satisfactory definitions for which we have never heard, but which you may have worked out. Also, words of knowledge attributed to a noted Chinese philosopher, Confucius, are being circulated among our undergraduates.

Garnet, Black Games To End WAA Fall Sports

The fall season of sports moves on and will end Nov. 10 with the usual Garnet and Black competition. Tennis players have about two more weeks in which to play the required four hours for credit. The season will be concluded by a ladder tournament, the finals of which will be played off on Mothers' Week End.

On Friday a meeting of the prospective members of the new Swimming Club was held for the purpose of filling out application blanks. Try-outs are to be held Thursday evening from eight-thirty to nine at the Auburn Y. Miss Parrot will have charge of the group which is planning to work on water stunts, formations, and diving.

W.A.A. Tea After Game

The first meeting of the Ski Club that was organized last winter was held Monday. Plans for this winter's program were made and include a series of cross-country trips.

The annual Back-to-Bates tea sponsored by W.A.A. will be held in Chase Hall immediately after the Maine game. Joan Wells, Kathryn Gould, and Bertha Bell, representing the three foremost organizations on campus, will pour. Barbara Fish is in charge.

Phi Sigma Iota Inducts Members By Candlelight

The French room at Hathorn Hall was the scene of an impressive candlelight service as seven members of the junior and senior classes were initiated into the Bates chapter of Phi Sigma Iota, Tuesday evening, Oct. 17. During the initiation ceremony, the officers of the club instructed the new members in the aims of the organization.

Those admitted to the club were: 1940, Alfred Morse, Thomas Pugliese, Ruth Sprague; 1941, Edward Booth, Kathleen Curry, Nancy Field, Ruth Goss.

As this is a national honor society, the membership is necessarily limited. Those in the club are chosen for their ability, promise, and appreciation of the Romance languages.

At a brief business meeting, projects for the year were discussed. The club decided to make a study of the contemporary French writers which are not included in the college course.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 23, at the home of Prof. Lawrence D. Kimball. The program is to be in charge of Bernice Lord and Thomas Pugliese, who will report on the life and the works of Andre Gide, French novelist and essayist.

Dinner, Games Feature Round Table Meeting

The Bates Faculty Round Table opened this year's series of meetings with a dinner at Chase Hall last Thursday evening. New members were welcomed and an entertainment was held after the dinner. Dr. Sawyer presided over the meeting.

Those who were welcomed into the group were Mrs. Angelo Bertocci, Mr. Joseph Conant, Mrs. Lyle E. Glazier, Mrs. Lennie Gould, Miss Barbara Kendall, Mr. Adam Kaminsky, Mrs. Nellie Libby, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Mansfield, Miss Charlotte Parrott, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Powell, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Rademaker, and Mrs. Edwin M. Wright.

The entertainment consisted of an Information Please contest with Dr. Britan as master of ceremonies, and an old-fashioned spelling-bee conducted by Dr. Wright.

CLUB NOTES

The Deutsche Verein had a cabin party yesterday at Thornacrag to initiate new members.

Last night the Christian Association held its annual candle-lighting service in the Chapel. The new officers were installed at this ceremony. Tonight there will be an all-committee rally in the Locker Building for everyone who has served on any of the C. A. committees.

The Christian Service Club will have a cabin party on Nov. 3 at Thornacrag.

Powell Speaks To Cameramen

The Politics Club met last night in Rand Hall Reception Room. Dr. Rademaker spoke on current problems.

The next meeting of the Camera Club will be on Nov. 6. At that time Mr. Powell will speak on the use of photography in publicity.

La Petite Academie had a spaghetti supper at Thornacrag last Tuesday evening.

The WAA Ski Club met last Monday in the Women's Union to discuss plans for the coming year.

Letters To The Editor

Importance of Hi-Y To Colleges

To the Editor:

In partial answer to the excellent editorial urging outside interests for students (and faculty?), I should like to add a post-script to the last week's news report of the Hi-Y conference held at Bowdoin, Oct. 13-14.

This organization, now growing rapidly in Maine, is of considerable potential importance to the colleges of the State, since its program tends to attract the type of student most likely to succeed in college. Their handbook for discussion groups deals with personal and social problems in a frank and stimulating manner very different from the stodgy conservatism attributed to the YMCA by some critics.

There are three ways of realizing fruitful cooperation between the college Christian Associations and the neighboring Hi-Y's; sharing of notable speakers, either in joint or separate meetings; making use of college students as speakers and advisors for Hi-Y groups; seeing that Hi-Y students have friendly contacts with some students of the college to which they go.

These advantages are so apparent that the Colby C.A. (which had a delegate at Bowdoin) now has a concrete plan under way to help in organizing and advising groups in their vicinity. It is true that one Bates student is already advisor to such a group, but there must be a number of Hi-Y's which would appreciate contacts with Bates and it is certain that many schools now having no Hi-Y could profit by the existence of a well-managed club.

The main speaker of the Bowdoin conference, Mr. C. C. Robinson, a vocational guidance expert with the N.Y.A., had just returned from seven years in Hawaii. He emphasized the prominent part taken there by Hi-Y's in building up the good race relations for which the islands are famous; in helping boys and girls to work and play together, unhampered by awkwardness due to unfamiliarity with the opposite sex; in finding a life work and preparing to succeed in it.

It is to be hoped that an increased number of Bates students will take an active part in realizing these and similar aims on our own campus and in our neighboring high schools and academies.

Prof. Robert D. Seward.

How About The Other Side?

To the Editor:

Commenting on the recent forum on neutrality, this student believes that the issue was clouded by the apparent prejudice of those participating.

The fact that Lindbergh advanced a theory of allowing no sale of offensive weapons drew the sarcastic remark of "who can say whether Him-burger cheese is offensive or not?"

It is ironical to think that this disregard of the other side has left them open to criticism. Or is it? The growth of neutrality was traced but I heard no mention of the fact that in 1933, President Roosevelt was supporting just such a measure—that of abolition of bombers which could bomb defenseless women and children. It was France and Japan who prevented this in 1933, and, of course, the discussion failed to bring this out.

Along with Senator Brown's (Michigan) denunciation of Lindbergh in the Senate, we have the denunciations of those who think only of the man who left his country for another. It appeared to some that Hoover and Lindbergh were collaborating. Anything to cast a stigma.

May I close with this question: Should we not as Christians uphold the view that the sale of arms should be prohibited? Or is Christianity only a commodity—to be used and thrown away?

Signed, R. G. Barney '41

Coed Waitresses Offer Suggestion

To the Editor:

Have you ever arisen at 6:15, taken a quick plunge into the shower, attempted to plaster every hair in place and arrive at 6:30 in the dining room, exuding that charming early-morning personality? If you haven't you have also missed the thrill of slithering into your seat at 7:46 to the accompaniment of acid professorial smiles.

The fault seems to be ours in not being able to undress, wash, dress, and achieve campus presentability, to say nothing of flying across campus and up three flights of stairs in the seven or eight minutes allowed to us with such generosity.

We do not object to this apparent impossibility, but when it appears that our work is falling short of professional perfection, we do object to a system of ranking, hanging like Damocles' sword over our heads.

To the impersonal observer it might appear unusual that one offense against the Blue Laws of Dining Room Etiquette would bring discharge. Professional waitresses are at least given the benefit of two or three doubts, as girls who have waited on tables at summer resorts can attest.

We do not ask your pity, all we ask is a modicum of consideration as you see us streak across campus after the bell has tolled its last note. This is our apology for entering class breathless and untidy, and with no apparent excuses to offer.

To be more constructive in our criticism, we suggest that two N.Y.A. girls who have no 7:40 classes be asked to come in for fifteen minutes after breakfast so that we could leave at 7:30 and start the day right. If we were not so rushed, we feel that we could do our work more efficiently and take more pride in it.

FROM THE NEWS

By Delbert A. Witty '40

TURKISH PACT IS VICTORY FOR ALLIES

Since the last issue of the STUDENT much has been accomplished by the political forces of the Allied powers. Almost twenty-five years ago to the day, Turkey threw in its lot with the Central Powers. The results which followed was the difficult, disastrous, and dangerous Dardanelles campaign which took heavy toll from the Allies. Today Turkey has swung the other way by its mutual assistance pact with Great Britain and France. Carefully excepted, however, is any situation which might make Turkey a belligerent against Soviet Russia.

From a military standpoint this pact has given rise to heavy concentration in this area. It is mentioned in dispatches that General Maxime Weygand, commander-in-chief of the French forces in the Near East, and Lieutenant General Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of the British Middle East, which includes Palestine, Sudan, Egypt, and other adjacent countries, are present in the Turkish capital. These men have at their command strong forces on land and equally strong forces on the water and in the air. These forces added to those of Turkey make any attack by Italy from Libya utterly improbable.

THE EVER-PRESENT BALKANS

But what will all this lead too? Take the "tinder box of Europe" which caused the last great war. Bulgaria is now isolated from any immediate assistance from the powerful paper-hanger and any hope of getting a slice of Greece for a port on the Aegean is out. They are forced to play ball with the Balkan Entente (now including Yugoslavia, Turkey, Rumania, and Greece) and get in it the most graceful way possible. Yugoslavia has taken a long step in becoming a strong nationalized country with an army powerful enough to meet successfully any invader. The terrain of this country is much less favorable for an attack from Germany than was the Polish territory. The only worry these Croats have would be from Italy who is held neutral by the possibility of cutting off all supplies from the resourceful Soviet state. Rumania now has access to aid from the Allies and a more comfortable feeling about her envious neighbor, Bulgaria. Greece is on the spot but her feelings are pro-Ally and when she must declare war it will be with them. It all adds up to the fact that if Herr Hitler plans a putsch on the western front he may find a lot of trouble waiting for him on the eastern end of recently acquired lands.

Russian aid to pro-German Bulgaria is impossible except via Rumania and it is unlikely that Stalin is going to fight any battles for Adolph. It is encouraging to see the small countries uniting both in the south and in the north. With a united front against aggression they are in a position to maintain their freedom as they realize a Nazi victory means the end of their independence.

PEACE SEEMS UNLIKELY

From the military angle little has been done in the way of a definite offensive by the Germans. Nothing would please Hitler more than a declaration of peace, but he carries peace with one hand and carries a pistol in the other. With this attitude peace will never come from the Allies.

In the event of a long war the countries with the largest man power and most natural resources will be the victor, if there is a victor. Of the European countries Russia has more of these than any other country. In the end it seems likely, that sooner or later, that country will have to be dealt with, but whether Stalin will send much of his resources to the Fuehrer is doubtful. If he keeps much of them at home for his people, the effects of the Allies' blockade of Germany will have a definite effect on the morale of the German people who are on rations now. It will make a future offensive more unlikely as time goes on. If, on the other hand, Hitler can secure supplies the whole British plan will have to be changed to more offensive tactics especially by the Royal Air Force which is ragin' to go.

WASHINGTON, WALL ST., FEEL WAR

In Washington the passing of the neutrality act seems probable in the near future. Limited debate is sure to come now and the middle of the week should find us in a new neutrality set-up. The major arguments have already been proposed and most have their minds made up.

But what will be the effect on Wall Street? The market has been in a rut for the past fortnight and last Tuesday it gave a surprise spurt. There is no doubt that Wall Street is concerned over the stabilizing of the price of steel. U. S. Steel has not declared a dividend for a "dog's age" and it does not seem too unjust that those that invest should have some return on their money. The cost of production is constantly rising and the steels should have the right to cover themselves. So it would seem from here that a rise in price is in order.

The effect of the repeal of the embargo on the market is a guess at best. Business itself is on the up trend through no effect of the war, but the war scare boosted commodity prices which in turn has been a large factor in the brisk advance since Sept. 1. A false boom of war orders would be a most unhealthy situation for our industry, since it would bring production way above our normal consumption and would then lead to a worse depression than this present one. Our future looks bright in view of the fact that much of the South American trade will be sent here instead of to the war-torn European countries. This situation is to be sure very favorable.

Railroad, Third Term, Clinics Head Debating Activities

The Bates Debating Council, under the leadership of President Mary Gonsky '40, is busily preparing for an extensive schedule of fall debates arranged by the two managers, Ruth Gray '40 and Eric Lindell '40.

In the first intercollegiate debate of the season Miss Gray and Harriet White '41 upheld the affirmative of the proposition "Resolved, that the Federal government should own and operate the railroads" in a home debate with the University of Vermont last week. Friday night these debaters will meet the representatives of Middlebury College on the same topic before the high school clinic at Lancaster, N. H.

Debate With Oxford Uncertain

A team of English debaters from Oxford are still expected on campus this fall but the war conditions have delayed the completion of their plans. The debaters have received permission to leave their country but arrangements for their passage have not yet been made.

As members of the Eastern Intercollegiate Debating League Bates teams in December will visit Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Wesleyan College. In later rounds Bowdoin and Pembroke debaters will visit the campus, and league debates will be held with Connecticut State College and the University of Maine away from campus.

The third of these clinics sponsored by the Bates Debating Council will be entertained on Nov. 10 by Maine Central Institute, Pittsfield.

First Radio Debate Versus Harvard

As a part of that program Owen Wheeler '40 and Morgan Porteus '41 will advocate government control of railroads in a debate with Colby College. The same evening Ira Nahlikian '40, Sumner Levine '42 and Patrick Harrington '42 will oppose a third term for Roosevelt in a debate with Yale University at New Haven. The final Maine clinic will be held at Presque Isle one week later. There

Records Indicate Close Maine Game

Injuries Weaken Bears; Mansfield Praises Johnson

The University of Maine, one of the few unbeaten, untied teams in this section of the country, will meet the stubborn Bobcats on Garcelon Field Saturday to open the State Series encounters. Both teams are boasting fine records, the Garnet with three wins in four starts, with the only loss being a 20 to 0 "moral victory" over Harvard.

The Pale Blue enters this fray with their best record since 1926 with successive victories over Arnold, 47 to 0, Rhode Island State, 12 to 0, shutting out N. H. U., and taking Conn. State into camp 29 to 7.

The Maine-Bates series has been a long one, extending away back to 1893, long before any State Series was organized. It has been a traditionally colorful one with all sorts of football coming to light. Everything has happened from a 67 to 0 win by Maine in 1927 to scoreless ties in 1905 and 1906. Three years ago Franny Smith set a new state record when he completed 23 forward passes for Maine. It was in this game that Barney Marcus '37 gained national fame by intercepting a Maine pass behind his own goal line and, streaking 101 yards for a touchdown to chalk up the longest run from pass interception that year.

In 1937 the two teams played in Lewiston in a downpour. This game saw a Garnet win because of a touchdown drive by Autie Briggs '38, the mighty plunger who had rather run through the tacklers than around them. Last year's game at Orono saw a 23-6 victory by Maine, but the game was a wild and woolly affair with the opportunistic Blue taking advantage of the breaks.

In the total series between the teams, Maine holds a slight edge, having won 27 of the 53 games, while Bates has won 20. The other six were tie games.

The University of Maine will not be at full strength for this game, for Ken Burr, veteran center, was injured in the New Hampshire game and has not yet returned to action. His place will probably be taken by Jim Harris. Coach Mansfield reported that there are no serious injuries in the Garnet camp, although Lou Hervey suffered a badly cut eye in the Arnold game. Norm Tardiff, veteran senior back is recovering from his shoulder injury and will probably see plenty of action.

While not over-optimistic, Coach Mansfield predicted a close ball game with the Bobcats on the long end if the team can begin to click consistently. "Maine will know that they have been in a ball game," he remarked. Coach Mansfield particularly praised the work of big Norm Johnson after the Arnold game, and indications are that he will alternate with Roy Briggs at the left tackle post.

Bobcats Trim Arnold With Power Plays, 15-0

The Bates Bobcat clawed a plucky but outmanned Arnold team 15-0 Saturday at Garcelon Field. The invaders from New Haven with a squad numbering only 19 men put up a valiant struggle against the better manned Bobcats but were forced to yield to superior man power.

The game saw Bates employ nothing but straight power football mixed with an occasional pass in an effort to win the game without revealing any of their pet plays which they are saving for the State series which begins next Saturday with the game against the University of Maine.

The game opened with Jim O'Sullivan kicking off to the red-shirted invaders who being unable to gain punted to the home team who lost the ball on an intercepted pass.

Belliveau Scores On Pass

The Bobcats started a drive after taking the ball on their own 32 and marched to the Arnold 18 yard line but lost the ball when Martin, Arnold quarterback, intercepted one of Art Belliveau's passes. The Garnet was not to be denied, however, and after taking a short Arnold punt on the loser's 40 yard stripe they marched to their first tally. This drive was sparked by the off-tackle slants of Belliveau and the power drives of Mike Buccigross. The scoring play was a short pass from Buccigross to Belliveau. Buccigross added the extra tally with a drop kick.

Garnet Halts Arnold Drives

The second quarter saw the victors twice start drives which appeared destined to add to the Bates score but a stubborn Arnold defense refused to crack and they were both halted, the second one on the 4 yard line.

The third period saw the Bobcats open up and score twice, once on an Arnold safety and once on a sustained drive of 70 yards.

After a Bates drive had petered out on the Arnold 4 yard line, this drive was 50 yards in length and featured the brilliant dashes of Belliveau, Gorman and Buccigross, the New Haveners lost two yards on a line play. On the next play they lined up in punt formation with Coppolla back. The pass from center was bad and Coppolla was forced to run with the ball, and before he could get from behind his own goal line Johnny James. Bates end, smashed through and dropped him for a safety and two points for Bates.

70-Yard Advance Leads To Score

The final Bates tally came on a two-yard plunge by Art Belliveau climaxing a 70-yard advance by the Garnet. This march was featured by a 30-yard punt return by Buccigross, and by the plunging of Belliveau and Gorman.

The final chapter saw the Arnoldians turn on the Bates second team and drive to the home team's 2 yard line before an aroused defense stopped them. During this march the all around work of Sylvia, Arnold back, stood out and it may be fairly said (Continued on page four)

Emery Captained 'Lost Team' On Unofficial Trip To Canada

Dr. Ernest W. Emery '92 recalled his experiences in playing on the first football game against Bowdoin in the old-time Bobcats around to the tune of 62 to 0. However, in the words of Dr. Emery, "It was a darn good game—regardless of the score".

No Passes, Just Power Drives

Dr. Emery returned to Bates in 1900 as a coach of baseball and the following year he entered Harvard Medical School and upon his graduation in 1905 went to Denver, Colo., where he began his practice of medicine and continued until a few years ago when he retired.

Football was a rugged game in the days of Doctor Emery. There was no such scientific equipment as there is today, although the players were covered to the eyebrows with bulky leather covering, injuries were frequent. The plays were purely power drives with a tremendous pile-up after each play, and woe betide the man underneath. Passes were an unheard of strategy.

'89 Nine State Champions

It was about baseball that Dr. Emery delighted to talk. He was captain of the 1889 team that won the championship without the loss of a single game. He insists that the AB on his diploma stands for "at bat" instead of "bachelor of arts". The 1889 team was the so-called "lost team" that took an unsanctioned journey into Canada on a barnstorming tour. Another member of this team is William F. Garcelon, speaker at the Varsity Club banquet last spring.

Dr. Emery, now visiting Lewiston with his daughter, Mrs. Allen H. Miller of Riveredge, N. J., will be unable to be present at the Back-to-Bates week end activities and the Maine game next week, but his wishes will be with us for a victory by his Alma Mater of which he has carried distinct memories all these years.

J. V. Cross-Country Starts Against Bridgton Today

The junior varsity cross-country team has tentatively scheduled a meet with Bridgton Academy for this afternoon. No advanced schedule has as yet been drawn up for the jayvees, but it is expected that there will be arranged several meets during the season.

The junior varsity will be led by Mal Holmes who is rounding into such form that he may be promoted to the varsity, John Howarth, Lou Handley, Richard Hoag, Thomas O'Shaughnessy, Irving Mabey, and George Niece.

Bobkittens Massacre Ricker Classical, 35-0

Showing almost unbelievable improvement over their first encounter, the freshman gridsters soundly spanked the Ricker Classical, last Friday, 35-0. Scoring a few minutes after the opening whistle, the freshmen tallied at will running up a convincing five touchdown margin.

With the Bobkitten line ripping gaping holes in the Ricker forward wall and with Smith, Johnson, and Newton alternating in carrying the ball, it wasn't long before Johnson scored the year's first touchdown for the frosh. Taking the ball on the Ricker 16 he raced through a big hole and crossed the last white line almost untouched. Newton picked up Smith's blocked kick and rushed it for the extra point. With the same trio of backs rolling up first down after first down, pay dirt was again struck. This time, it was Newton who lugged it over from the 5 yard line. Smith kicked the point, giving the frosh a 14-0 lead, and the first team retired. The second team proved themselves to be nearly on a par with the first and continued to run up the score. Seven plays after the start of the second period, Cote plunged over and Sears rushed the extra point. This ended the scoring for the half with the frosh enjoying a comfortable 21-0 lead.

The first eleven was back in there at the start of the last half, and soon started a 55-yard march. Johnson, who did most of the ball carrying on the march, crashed over for the score from the nine yard line. Smith made the conversion with another fine place kick, bringing the Bobkittens into a 28-0 lead. This ended the day's work for the starters and Sturgis set the stage for the last touchdown by intercepting a Ricker forward on his own 15 and racing beautifully to the opponents' 45. The seconds marched from here to a touchdown with Delano making the final 6-pointer. Sears again rushed the extra point ending the scoring of the day with the Freshmen way out in front, 35-0.

Again the varsity harriers get the bid with their 25 to 31 victory over a strong Northeastern University team.

Some special statistics taken in the Arnold game show an interesting situation. In the fourth period the Bobcats only rushed the ball five times but made a total of fifty-six yards, or about eleven yards average per advance. That's at the rate of a first down on each rush. In the other quarters Bates rushed from fourteen to eighteen times.

A pleasing sight was the rising of the Bates team to cheer Fish, Arnold's injured end, when he was carried from the field. . . . Monte Moore plans to have all cross-country meets finish in front of the grandstand on Garcelon field in the future, whether there is a football game going on or not. . . . Quoting the Colby "Mule": "Card, Colby's only letterman returning from last year, was topped by five Bobcats whom he will easily outrun in the State Meet after he has had more running." All that we have to say is wait and see, just wait and see. . . . By the way, Colby had a new football song written by Fred Waring and sung by his Pennsylvanians. The story behind this is that Coach Al McCoy and Waring were classmates at Penn State.

Garnet Gives 25-31 Defeat To Huskies

Let by acting Captain Harry Shepherd '40, the varsity harriers defeated a strong Northeastern team at Franklin Park, Boston, Saturday afternoon by a score of 25 to 31. With only a mile to go and the Garnet harriers bunched together so that the race was clinched, the men did not extend themselves to any great extent with the exception of Shepherd who pressed the two leaders from Northeastern closely.

Coach Thompson stated that he was particularly pleased with the showing of Harry Shepherd and Charlie Gralchen '40, as well as with the fine balance that the team displayed. Gralchen has been laid up with a sprained ankle and would not have competed in this meet if Joe Houston '41 had not been laid low by an infected foot.

Coach Thompson chooses a captain for each meet, and so far the captain has been the first Bates man in. In the N. H. U. meet which the Bobcats lost, Al Rollins '40 was the first man in for the Garnet, in the Colby meet Frank Coffin '40 tied for first with four others, and Shepherd continued the record by being the first of the Garnet to cross the finish Saturday.

The summary: 1, Carpenter, NU; 2, Drevitch, NU; 3, Shepherd, B; 4, Rollins, B; 5, Coffin, B; 6, Downing, B; 7, Drury, B; 8, Drurup, NU; 9, Campbell, NU; 10, Gralchen, B; 11, Landsman, NU; 12, Nickerson, B; 13, Anis, NU.

'43 Hill-and-Dalers Drop Meet To Deering, 26-29

The freshman "A" harriers lost their first meet Friday when they were nosed out by a fleet footed sextet from Deering by a final tally of 26-29.

The finish, an added attraction for the frosh-Ricker football fans, disclosed the yearling pack led as usual by their star, McLaughlin. "Mac" claimed the honors of first place in the meet by a large margin, although Ward of the down-staters fought gamely to catch him as he broke the finish tape.

Lyford and Welch pulled in in fourth and fifth positions, respectively, but the margin of the Deering win was measured by the points gained by the three alien runners to precede the fourth and fifth Garnet runners, Borden and Grimes.

The frosh were at a disadvantage in the meet by the absence of Corbett from their ranks. Corbett, a consistent point collector for the yearlings, had been outrun by a flock of germs and was laid low with a temporary illness.

The summary:

1, McLaughlin, B; 2, Ward, D; 3, Drew, D; 4, Lyford, B; 5, Welch, B; 6, Ryder, D; 7, Wood, D; 8, Soule, D; 9, Borden, B; 10, Grimes, B; 11, Gates, B; 12, Sawyer, B; 13, Michaud, D; 14, Hofacher, D.

Bobkittens Seek 2nd Win As They Face Coburn Fri.

The Bobkittens will ring up the curtain of the Back-to-Bates week end by playing host to the Coburn Classical gridmen at Garcelon field at 3 p. m. Friday.

In spite of the decisive score of their initial victory over Ricker, Coach Spinks stated early this week that the team was far from the peak that he desired. Much work has been done this week to round out the team for this and the next game.

The Coburn Tigers, who last week end tasted defeat at the hands of MCI (next opponents of the frosh), will be attempting to bounce back into the win column by a local conquest. They should present the frosh with plenty of problems on Friday. The star back of the team, Frank Caminiti, will be out to continue his career of running wild over all comers.

X-C Team Fights For State Title Fri.

The Garnet harriers will attempt to dethrone the University of Maine, defending champion, in the State cross-country run to be held at Augusta Friday afternoon. This meet marks the first time that Bowdoin has competed since 1924.

The Pale Blue runners are favored to retain their title, but will be strongly pressed by the well-balanced Garnet squad. Maine will be led by the individual title-holder, Don Smith, who is running better than ever this season. The rest of the Maine team, who seemed to be improved this year after chasing Smith for the past three seasons, are Blaisdell, Ehrlenbach, and Butterworth. The only basis for comparison is the sound drubbing that Maine administered to the strong University of New Hampshire harriers, while the Garnet harriers lost a close one to N. H. U. in the first race of the season on the Durham, N. H., course.

Bowdoin returns to this competition with a trio of strong runners in Hagstrom, Doubleday, and Babcock. The only runner at Colby who stands a good chance of figuring in the scoring is Captain Card. But he has been handicapped by illnesses of the past summer. The remainder of the Colby squad are inexperienced men.

The meet seems to shape up as a duel between Bates and Maine. In past records Maine is way ahead of the field having won the majority of the meets that have been held since 1912, while Bates ranks second with five wins.

Since the meet is to be held on the Augusta golf course, the Garnet harriers have been working out on Riverdale golf course to get accustomed to running on the turf. The men who will make the trip, barring accidents are Shepherd '40, Downing '40, Coffin '40, Rollins '40, Gralchen '40, Drury '41, and Nickerson '42. If Joe Houston's infected foot is better enough to allow him to work out this week, he will undoubtedly make the trip.

Frosh Harriers To Race Lisbon High Tuesday

The Lisbon High cross-country team will come to town Tuesday afternoon to race with the freshman harriers. The Bates yearlings will be out to avenge their last year's defeat at the hands of the Lisbon forces.

Despite Lisbon's victory over Monmouth Academy by a score of 23 to 34, their relative strength is still a mystery. However, it does look as if it will be a lad named Millet who will bear plenty of watching and may give the home boys a hard push. This youngster led the pack home on the Monmouth course with a record time of 12 minutes and 14 seconds.

Coach Thompson stated that he expected plenty of competition as this little school usually turns out an excellent team yearly. Incidentally, last year's Bates varsity cross-country captain, Dana Wallace, was graduated from Lisbon High.

Unique Play, 'Our Town' Pictures The Simple Life

By Marie Dodge '40

Last year, after having seen "Our Town", the latest success of Thornton Wilder, Professor Berkelman very enthusiastically and vividly told some of his students a bit about it. According to him, the play was really something new and different, something we should all see, or at least read. Therefore, I was very glad to know that it was to be given at Lakewood the week I was to be visiting nearby. Needless to say, none of us were disappointed by the performance, as so often happens when something has been highly praised or recommended by others.

"Our Town" really is different. At first, however, I didn't realize just why. It is done so realistically that one tends to forget completely the lack of properties or scenery. One sees ordinary people engaged in ordinary household activities, but they are minus the dishes, the moving machine, and the books. Your imagination simply can't fail to be aroused under such stimulation.

The story will indubitably appeal to everyone. It is that of a small New England town and the simple, human events in the lives of various citizens. It might be any town and the people might be any of us with our sorrows and happiness. The last scene is particularly impressive; here we learn that the past must be left behind and that true joy and truth await us in the future. There is an air of wonder and easy waiting about this that takes away any suggestion of the morbid.

Woolcott Liked It

One could see "Our Town" any number of times and still find it beautiful and touching. Alexander Woolcott said of it, "In all my days as a theatergoer no play ever moved me so deeply." Among many reviews, all of which highly commend the play, the Washington Herald said, "At first surprised the audience to gaiety and then slowly stilled it to a hushed silence with the significance of its unadorned truth. The drama is so illusive in its charm that mere words fail to convey a picture of its fascination."

Undefeated Dorm Clubs Clash In Crucial Meet

The East Parker and Off-Campus touch football teams clash tomorrow in a game which may go a long way in deciding the championship of the Intramural touch-football league. Both teams are undefeated and are just about evenly matched. East features the dependable pass-receiving Brad Witty and strong defensive line play, while Don Webster is the stand-out for the Townies. The game is scheduled to start at 4:00 and will be played on Garcelon Field.

Last week's matches ran true to form with the favored club winning in each case. West Parker's potentially strong group still was not up to par and was lucky to eke out a victory over Don Maggs' Roger Williams team. The score was 2-0 and was caused by Art Damon's lightning charge through the line, catching a luckless Roger Bill ball carrier behind the line. The game was strictly defensive.

John Bertram's powerful "dark-horses" proved that they may have a thing to say about final championship awards as they annexed an easy 12-6 verdict over "Sandy" Sandblom's Off-Dorm outfit. The frosh, presenting a varied and well-drilled attack featuring spinners, reverses, deceptive laterals, and spot passing, twice made long marches down the field for touchdowns. The Off-Dorm group kept in the game mainly through the efforts of Dick Thompson's long passes, and Tom O'Shaughnessy's long runs. The running of Bill Arlock, the passing of Capt. Albie Wight and the pass-receiving of Jimmie Watts were features for J. B.

The standings:

| | W | L | Pt | Pa |
|----------------|---|---|----|----|
| East Parker | 2 | 0 | 28 | 7 |
| Off-Campus | 1 | 0 | 12 | 6 |

that he was the outstanding Arnold player on the field.

In summing up the game it can be said with due credit to Arnold that the game provided a fine tune-up for the all-important Maine game next Saturday. The contest showed several rough spots that must be ironed out before next week's encounter and gave Coach Mansfield a line on his reserve strength.

Freshman X-C Team Wins Again, 18-44

The freshman harriers stepped back onto the victory path yesterday afternoon by outrunning Scarborough High School, 18-44. McLauthlin was winning man again for the frosh, doing the course in 10 minutes flat. He was followed by Lyford, Welch, and Borden in that order. The times were all especially good considering the frosty weather.

The summary: Frosh—1, McLauthlin; 2, Lyford; 4, Welch; 5, Borden; 6, Corvid; 7, Gates; 9, Grimes; 10, Tufts; 11, Sawyer; 14, Solomon; 15, Crosby; 17, Stoughton.

Scarboro—3, Withee; 8, Jones; 12, Klasse; 13, Cott; 16, Stallow; 18, Pooler.

Billiard Champion Peterson Demonstrates Fancy Shots

Chase Hall Wednesday played host to about one hundred "pool" enthusiasts who witnessed two spectacular lecture-demonstrations of the game of billiards as given by Charles Peterson, the world's fancy shot billiard champion.

Peterson accompanied the demonstration of his many fancy shots with interesting lectures on the fundamentals of the game. He circulated among the audience sheets of paper containing illustrated diagrams and instructions to facilitate the complete understanding of the discussion. He had a pleasing personality and great skill as a professional showman. By causing a cue ball to describe a curve and a circle, he actually convinced his listeners that mathematics has many practical applications.

"Sol" Bunshaft '41 definitely proved that he wasn't behind the eight ball by holding more than his own in competition with the champ himself.

W A A Holds Annual Tea For Guests After Game

On Saturday afternoon, directly after the game, Alumni, faculty, and students are invited to attend the annual Back-to-Bates tea in Chase Hall. Katherine Gould '40, Joan Wells '40, and Bertha Bell '40 will be the pourers.

The committee in charge is headed by Barbara Fish '41 and includes Aino Puranen '41, decorations; Chris Williamson '41, refreshments; Janet McCaw '41, music; Frances Wallace '41, dishes; Tressa Braun '41, clean-up; and is being aided by Miss Fahrenholz.

Outing Club Fetes Alumni At Thorncrag Sunday

The Outing Club will sponsor an Open House at Thorncrag, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 29, from 2:30 to 5:00. This is a regular feature of the Back-to-Bates week end, and everyone is invited.

The chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. Paul R. Sweet, Joan Wells '40, and Ralph Caswell '41, directors of cabins, are in charge of the affair.

Locations: Mark Lelyveld '40, the Bates STUDENT of Oct. 25; John McCue '40, the "Mirror" of 1939; Barbara Rowell '40, the Spring 1939 issue of the "Garnet"; Raymond Cool '40, the "Buffoon" of Oct. 23, and Leonard Clough '40, the 1939-40 Christian Association freshman handbook.

Audience Sings

"Gallery of Memories"

This completes the list of documents of the day that will enter the cornerstone box of the new dormitory, while the assembly then sings the "Gallery of Memories" led by Seldon T. Crafts, the box will be sealed by a workman. It will then be put in place with the cornerstone itself.

Pres. Clifton D. Gray will have the honor of placing the first trowel of mortar on the stone, followed by Governor Barrows with the second, and Pres. Hauck of Maine with the third. Dr. Vernon will then offer the benediction.

Mr. Crafts will lead the audience in the Alma Mater and the band will march back to the gymnasium to complete the ceremony.

Debate With Vermont Features First Clinic

The debate clinic sponsored here Friday by the Debating Council for the benefit of the members of their interscholastic league was featured by the first intercollegiate debate of the season. Mary Gozonsky '40, president of the Council, presided at the debate which attracted representatives of 18 high schools, completely filling the Little Theatre.

Ruth Gray '40 and Harriet White '41 upheld the affirmative of the question of government ownership of railroads for Bates, while Eleanor Brodey and Trudy Johnston defended the negative for the University of Vermont.

The high school students attended the freshman football game and participated in a demonstration and discussion of extemporaneous speaking conducted by Miss Lavinia Schaeffer of the Speech department.

Principal E. P. Smith of Turner Institute presided at a coaches' round table and the debaters heard Prof. J. Murray Carroll of the Economics department discuss "The Plight of the Railroads." As the evening session opened Prof. Brooks Quimby, director of the league, spoke on "Is That Good Debating?" An interesting forum period concluded the clinic program.

Mothers Of Frosh, Juniors To Have Day, Nov. 18 and 19

Freshman and Junior coeds will entertain their mothers next Nov. 18 and 19 when the fourth annual Mothers' Week End will occur. Student Government and W. A. A. are preparing to show the visitors a sample of college life.

The mothers who arrive on Saturday morning are invited to attend classes. The afternoon program consists of a sports review, an exhibition by the Modern Dance Club, and a tea in the Women's Union. At 6:15 a banquet will be served at Fiske Dining Hall. After that comes a stepping-stone at Hathorn Hall, followed by movies of the campus and the presentation of a short play by the Heelers.

On Sunday the mothers will breakfast at Fiske. The official week end will close at a service in the chapel during which Dr. Rayborn Zerby will speak.

The committee in charge consists of Hazel Turner '40, Frances Wallace '41, and Gale Rice '41.
